DDJC's Fisher, Mayes new college grads

By Doug Imberi, DDJC Public Affairs

Edna Stanley-Fisher, an Administrative Assistant for the Defense Distribution Depot San Joaquin, Calif. (DDJC) Stock Repositioning Team, and Blanche Mayes, a Supply Clerk for the DDJC Inventory Integrity Division, recently received bachelor's degrees.

Stanley-Fisher earned her degree in Theology from the Sacramento Seminary and Bible College. She's been working on the degree for about six years. The degree has led her to doing motivational speaking geared toward women and children.

"I encourage them to do volunteer and community service," she noted. "We all have a gift that somebody needs."

Mayes earned a degree in Human Services from the University of Phoenix. She figures it took almost three years of night classes. "I want to get into social work," Mayes added.

Both plan on pursuing master's degrees.

DDPW names Christian Employee of the Year

Defense Distribution Depot Puget Sound, Wash. (DDPW), Commanding Officer CDR Bill Bailey, SC, USN, presents Transportation Clerk Susie Christian with the DDPW Employee of the Year award.

"Several employees this past year have stepped up and contributed greatly to the overall success of DDPW during our first year of performance as a post A-76 organization, but one name that stood out is Susie Christian," said CDR Bailey.
